MEMOIRS.

Rev. THOMAS BARTOW SARGENT, D.D.

We enter this year upon the roll of the departed a name that has long stood at the head of the list of clerical members of the Baltimore Conference, and which has been identified with the history of American Methodism for half a century.

Rev. Thomas B. Sargent, D.D., was born in East Baltimore, March, 1805. His paternal ancestors were English; maternal, French. His father, Dr. Thos. F. Sargent, an active itinerant for forty years, was stationed in Baltimore at the time of the birth of the subject of this memorial sketch. He died in the pulpit at Cincinnati, of apoplexy, just after announcing his text.

Thomas B. Sargent spent a year in the law office of the late John C. Lomber, Esq., of Philadelphia, having previously pursued a classical course at the University of Pennsylvania, then conducted by Prof. J. G. Thomson, Dr. Patterson and Dr. Beasley. He commenced his ministry in 1823 at the early age of 18. In the following year—1824—he attended the General Conference held at Light Street Church, Baltimore, and preached during the session. Freeborn Garretson and Thomas Ware were with him in the pulpit on that occasion. His extreme youth; his almost feminine beauty; his melodious voice, modest and graceful bearing and fervid eloquence captivated his audience. This introductory effort established his reputation as a pulpit orator, and subsequently his ministry attracted crowds of eager and delighted hearers. He was admitted into the Philadelphia Conference in 1825, and stationed for two years at Elizabeth, and the two succeeding years at Rahway, N. J. In 1829, he was transferred to the Baltimore Conference, and stationed in Baltimore city, 1829-'30, under the Presiding Eldership of Christopher Frey. In 1831, Wm. Hamilton, Presiding Elder, he was stationed at Carlisle, Pa. In 1832, he married the daughter of Hon. James Carroll, of Baltimore, and was appointed the same year to East Baltimore Station, under Alfred Griffith as Presiding Elder. In the following year he was appointed junior preacher with Henry Smith to Baltimore Circuit. In 1834-'5, he was appointed to Foundry Station, Washington city, with Samuel Brison, P. C.; in 1836-'7, assigned to the charge of Baltimore Circuit, John Poisal and Wm. Edmunds, junior preachers. In 1838, he was appointed to Patapsco Circuit, J. P., Richard Brown, P. C.; in 1839-'40, preacher in charge of Great Falls Circuit. In 1841, he was appointed to North Baltimore Station as junior preacher, with Thomas Sewall as associate junior preacher and David Steele as preacher in charge. A wonderful revival occurred in the station during this year, to which the labors of Dr. Sargent largely contributed. In 1842, he accompanied Bishop Soule, by request, to England, and with the Bishop, was cordially received by the Wesleyan Conference then in session. He made a fine impression, which was strengthened by subsequent visits. All the Methodist Journals of England have recently expressed the highest admiration of his character and pulpit ability, and spoken in touching terms of his death. From 1844 to 1847 he was Presiding Elder on Potomac District. He was a member of the General Conference that met at New York in 1844, and was elected Secretary of that body. In 1847, he was assigned to the charge of Summerfield Circuit; in 1848 and '49, to Charles Street Station, Baltimore, and in 1850 and '51, to North Baltimore Station. In 1852, he was Superintendent of the Plan of Endowment of Dickinson College. From 1853 to 1857 he was Presiding Elder on Northumberland District; in 1858, on West Baltimore District; in 1859-'61, on East Baltimore District. In 1862, he was appointed to Strawbridge Station, Baltimore; in 1863-'65, to Hereford Circuit, with D. Shoaff as junior preacher during the last year. In 1866, he took a local relation in the East Baltimore Conference, and in accordance with the plan of separation, adhered to the M. E. Church, South. When, at the General Conference held at New Orleans in 1866, Dr. D. S. Doggett was elected Bishop, Dr. Sargent succeeded him in the charge of Centenary Church, Richmond, Va., and the same year connected himself with the Virginia Conference, and in 1867-'8, was appointed to Portsmouth, Va. In 1868, he was transferred to the Baltimore Conference of the M. E. Church, South, and stationed as assistant at Central Station, Baltimore city. In 1869, he was appointed to Northwest Baltimore, and in 1870, to East Baltimore Station. In 1871, he was appointed to Martinsburg, W. Va. At the Conference at Warrenton, Va., in 1872, he was placed on the Superannuated list, and so continued till his death.

Dr. Sargent was the contemporary of Summerfield, and in many respects resembled that eminent and eloquent preacher. He was characterized by the same captivating sweetness of expression and gentleness of manner. His personal appearance impressed every one who saw him. He was scarcely of average height, but of good figure, and with a countenance always lighted up with a genial smile that won a welcome even before he was known. His voice was smooth and musical, not wholly without a tone and expression that might be called "mannerism"; but if this peculiarity was the result of early cultivation, it had become second nature by habit. Certain it is, that it was quite unlike what is sometimes observed in others. It was a part of the man, always observable, and not taken on to impart impressiveness to special occasions. His manners were courtly, not stiff. They were notable for ease and grace, and impressed one as the product of life-long association with persons of refinement and culture.

His conversational powers were of no common order. His wide acquaintance with men and books, and his somewhat extensive travels, furnished a fund of incident and information, which combined with fluency and felicity of expression, made him the centre and charm of the social circle.

His preaching, while thoroughly evangelical and practical, was not unaccompanied with the graces of elocution. As already stated, in his early ministry, crowds thronged to hear him, and to his later years he was recognized on both sides of the Atlantic as an able and eloquent minister of the New Testament. He was a preacher of the strictly Wesleyan type, adhering with the utmost exactitude to the Arminian system of Theology, as interpreted by Wesley, Fletcher and Watson. He was impatient of the slightest departure from the recognized standard and established usages of methodism. No man among us was better acquainted with the history and hymnology of methodism. His memory was stored with those sacred metrical compositions that did much to give to Methodism its primitive power, singing the gospel into many hearts which the voice of the living preacher did not reach, or serving to enforce his utterances. The hymns of Charles Wesley were his special favorites. These were always at his command, and he quoted them at times with great appositeness and effect. His familiarity with the Book of God was remarkable, extending not only to the matter of the book, but to minute and literal acquaintance with the sacred text. He was extremely sensitive to the slightest inaccuracy of quotation from the Inspired Word. His sermons and exhortations abounded with scriptural citations, and were so amply illustrated in this respect that it might be said of them, they were "not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth." Often his preaching was "in demonstration of the Spirit and of power." Souls were awakened and brought to Christ under his earnest ministry. His sermons were full of the very marrow of the gospel. When the people asked bread, he never gave them a stone. Christ and the great salvation were his constant theme. Whatever pertained to the work and offices of the Redeemer, he dwelt upon with enthusiastic delight, and often with thrilling effect.

His christian experience and life were a practical comment upon his pulpit utterances. Fully recognizing the doctrine of the Witness of the Spirit—of that Divine testimony to the truth and to the saving grace of God, which He bears to the human consciousness—in his case that inner testimony was of the clearest and most satisfactory character. He remarked, on one occasion, that from the date of his conversion he had never lost the evidence of his acceptance; nor had he lost a sense of his own utter unworthiness. Through the many years of his private and ministerial life he maintained an unblemished reputation. This remains as a legacy to his children and the church; and the fragrant memory of his godly life lingers like a sweet aroma around the path he trod and hallowed on the earth.

For several years previous to his death his health had been feeble, confining him for the most part to the house; yet occasionally it would so far improve as to admit of his exercising himself in public, and making distant excursions to visit his friends or attend some church gathering. It was during one of these intervals of improvement he visited Canada, and substituted the regular appointees as Fraternal Messenger to the General Conference of the Canadian Methodist Church. But a few Sabbaths before his death he preached at one of our churches in Baltimore; and only the day before his decease he rode to one of the suburban parks. On Wednesday night, October 13, he retired with cheerful spirits and in his usual health. About 2 o'clock Thursday morning a sudden and heavy fall was heard in his room, and some members of the family repairing to it found him lying prostrate and insensible upon the floor. He had been stricken with apoplexy, from which he died the evening of the same day.

Thus the fathers of the Church, one by one, are passing away. Another link is broken that connects us with the historic past. May the mantles of these ascending Elijahs fall upon those who shall take their places in the Church of God, and the record of their devoted lives prove an inspiration to like fidelity and zeal in those who come after them.

Rev. JOHN L. GILBERT.

Rev. John L. Gilbert was born of Methodist parentage, in Frederick county, Md., on the 3d of October, 1818, and departed this life on the 28th of January, 1880, in the 62d year of his age, and in the 38th year of his itinerant ministry. He was buried at Brucetown, Frederick county, Va., on the 31st of January, 1880.

Of the early life of our departed brother only a few data are at command. Among these is the fact that he was converted at 16 years of age. At what time he was licensed to preach does not appear; but from a brief autobiography and the Journal of his Conference, we have the following account of his labors among us: He was admitted on trial in the Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, at the session held in the Caroline Street Church, Baltimore city, in March, 1842, and appointed as junior preacher, with the Rev. S. Hildebrand as preacher in charge, to the Christiansburg Circuit. This Circuit then included what is now Christiansburg, Blacksburg, Salem, La Fayette, Newport, and a part of Roanoke circuit. At the Conference of 1843 he was sent as junior preacher to the Franklin circuit, with Thomas H. Busey, of precious memory, as preacher in charge. The territory of this laborious field now includes the present Franklin circuit, Crab Bottom, Monterey and Highland circuit. In 1844, he was appointed to the charge of Newcastle, then also a very large circuit; and while on this charge he was married, on the 4th of December, to Miss Ann M. Kyle, of Montgomery county, Va. In 1845, he was assigned to Covington circuit, where he remained two years. From this, in 1847, he was sent to Munroe circuit for two years. Fincastle circuit, for the years of 1849 and 1850, was next blessed with his faithful ministry. In 1851, to Schellsburg,

Bedford county, Pa; 1852-'3, to West River, Md.; 1854-'5, Calvert circuit; 1856-'7, Patuxent Circuit; 1858-'9, Severn Circuit; 1860-'1, Montgomery Circuit; 1862-'3, West Georgetown and Tennallytown; 1864, Sandy Springs, Md.; 1865, Rockville, Md. The last named four years were full of peril and responsibility, and with respect to which the following remark from his own pen best explains his conduct: "At the Conference held in Staunton, March, 1861, I acted heartily with the majority of the Conference, but did all I could to secure moderation. I was returned to the Montgomery Circuit. This year—entirely cut off from the brethren in Virginia by the military lines—I was obliged, in my judgment, either to suspend work virtually, or to meet with the moiety Conference in Baltimore, under the presidency of Bishop Janes. March, 1862, I chose the latter course, and joined with six of the brethren in a manifesto, asserting our adherence to the principles upon which we acted the previous year, but expressing a willingness to accept work under the presiding Bishops, pending the separation of the Baltimore Conference by military lines. Our manifesto was not allowed to be put on record, but after some strange proceedings, we were recognized as members, and I was appointed to West Georgetown." * * * * "The war being over, in February, 1866, I reported the Rockville Circuit to the Conference held in Alexandria, Va., under the presidency of Bishop Early, and was returned to the same Circuit."

In 1867, he was again sent to Fincastle Circuit, where he labored three years. In the year 1870, he was appointed to the Lewisburg District, and labored with fidelity and success for four years. In 1874, he went to the charge of the Lexington District, and here also remained four years. In 1878, he was appointed to the Brucetown Circuit, in the Winchester District, and was reappointed to the same in the spring of 1879. This was his last place of toil and suffering. Early in the summer of 1879, decided symptoms of a fearful malady appeared. He could scarcely realize that his work was done, and that ere another Conference should assemble, he should be called to join the "general assembly and Church of the first born." This was not the result of a feeble faith—for his heart had been kept in communion with God—but was rather the effect of the suddenness of the failure of a robust health, which for thirty-seven years, in many fields of his hard toil, seemed almost to defy the wear and waste of time, and to be prophetic of long continuance.

"I have not lost," said he a short time before his death, "five Sundays in about thirty-seven years on account of personal ill health." How he meditated upon this mercy of God is best shown by his own written words: "and here I record my expressions of unfeigned gratitude to my gracious Lord and Saviour, who has guided and watched me for these years."

In all the above-named places of his ministerial labor he was faithful, diligent and earnest; in many of them he was eminently successful and abundant in labors. Many were the seals to his consecrated ministry; many precious and redeemed souls had he for his hire.

Bro. Gilbert was a man of deep conviction, and of unselfish nature. Without affectation or ostentation, his was a true and sincere spirit—of lofty piety and noble character. He was also a diligent student. Starting with few advantages of early mental discipline and culture, he overcame these, in a large degree, by persevering application to those studies which would best qualify him for his sacred calling of preaching the gospel, and for defending the faith.

He was a fine theologian, and no mean polemic, being always ready to meet in public debate any champion of views he believed to be erroneous. He was scrupulously exact in his attention to all the minor details of his work; he believed fully in the Methodist Discipline, and while a Presiding Elder, he always insisted upon observing the letter of the law, and did not hesitate to chide sharply any of the preachers who failed to conscientiously discharge his duties.

A few weeks before his death, there was an apparent improvement in his health; and although it was quite evident to his friends that his course was nearly run, yet he, deceived by the temporary benefit he experienced, cherished the hope of an early return to his loved employ, and looked forward with special pleasure to meeting his brethren at this session of our Conference. A good man has gone from us; one who will be much missed. He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him.

Rev. WM. H. WHEELWRIGHT.

Rev. Wm. H. Wheelwright was born in Westmoreland county, Va., July 23, 1824, and died at his home in Warren county, Va., December 17, 1879; and his remains were borne to Front Royal, Va., where they lie buried, awaiting the resurrection morning.

Brother Wheelwright was converted to God at sixteen years of age; and it is said that in his youth he was exceedingly bright and attractive and very devoted to his home. Particulars of his early Christian life are wanting. We only learn that from the first he was a most conscientious person, and sought always to do his whole duty.

He was educated as a State cadet at the Virginia Military Institute, and graduated with credit there; but unlike many who, on graduation, deem their education finished, he continued a diligent student during his active life.

Brother Wheelwright joined the Virginia Conference at its session held at Randolph Macon College in the fall of 1846. His first year in the ministry was spent on Warrenton Circuit, and during his ministry he served many important appointments in the Virginia and Baltimore Conferences, among them Edenton, N. C.; Dinwiddie Street, Portsmouth; two churches in Richmond, viz: Centenary and Union; Washington Street, Petersburg; Warrenton and Nottoway Circuits; the old Randolph Macon District; Winchester Circuit and Winchester District, from which, after three years service, he was compelled to retire in March, 1874.

Wherever he labored he made a decided impression for God's cause, being faithful as a minister, and shunning not to declare all the counsels of God, but always absolutely free from harshness or any disposition to lord it over God's heritage.

He felt it his duty, when the war commenced, to offer his services to his State, having been educated by her, and his offer being accepted, he was appointed Major of a regiment then stationed at Gloucester Point, where he remained twelve or fourteen months, and this was one of the most useful and happy years of his life. He passed through many vicissitudes during the war. When it closed he was serving as chaplain.

He was united in early manhood to Miss Margaret Kerfoot, in which excellent and elegant lady he found a true consort, entering fully into his great work. She was to him ever a wise counsellor; a light and joy to his heart and home in the days of his prosperity; a solace and support in his hours of trial.

At the close of the war he went to Warren county, Virginia. There had been no preaching in all the country about there for a long time, and he became a self-appointed pastor of the scattered Methodist flocks, visiting the sick and ministering to them as they had need, and preaching every Sunday. He taught school during the week, thus gaining a meager support. At the next Virginia Conference he was appointed missionary to this same work—his circuit extending to Linden; after which he served one year on the Nottoway Circuit, in the Virginia Conference, and was then transferred to the Baltimore Conference, in which he ended his labors in 1874, and his life in 1879. In 1872, he was seized with rheumatism, and suffered increasing agony, until death brought him kind relief. Perhaps no one could have suffered more than he. He was drawn almost double by the fearful pains, and could only find very partial and temporary relief by use of opiates. All that the best medical skill could do was tried, but without avail. The refiner's fire burned fiercely, until the fine gold was brought out, pure and shining, and received the stamp of the Master's image. He never complained. It was a treat to visit him; and his friends always came away edified and instructed, and wondering at the sustaining power of God's grace manifested in him.

From the beginning of his ministerial career, he was noted for his genial, frank and cordial manners; his faithful and ardent friendships, and for his honest preaching of the Word. He was a great student. In his maturity he delighted in such studies as the philosophy and metaphysics of Hamilton, and the works of Butler, Cousin, &c., &c.

In the later years of his ministry, his efforts were directed to finding out the mind of the Spirit, as revealed in God's Word. He was a live teacher; an able minister of the Gospel, and grew in knowledge and power, until arrested by an incurable disease. He was a high-toned christian gentleman; hospitable, generous and cordial. All recognized his honesty and sincerity in religious matters. His candor in reference to himself, and his courage in dealing with all social and religious questions, stand almost without a parallel.

Noble-minded, genial, courageous in the highest degree, ardent and faithful in his friendships, gentle and sympathizing toward the tempted and afflicted, a pointed, clear and able preacher of the great salvation, it is not surprising that he was beloved and honored in all the churches, and that his ministrations were everywhere attended with a hallowing influence. His life and labors were not noisy and obtrusive, but for that reason, perhaps, all the more efficient and permanent for good.

His life was heroic and noble, and his death a triumphant promotion in the great army of God.

May his mantle of simplicity and purity and honest devotion to the truth fall on all who survive.

Rev. MICHAEL P. SCANLAN.

Our losses during the past year have not been confined to the veterans of the Conference. One of our younger brethren has been smitten down in the vigor and promise of his early manhood and ministry.

Rev. Michael P. Scanlan was born in Hampshire county, West Virginia, June 26th, 1853, and died at the village of Waverly, near Baltimore city, December 26th, 1879. He was just twenty six years and six months old at the time of his death, and had been five years in the active ministry of the church.

His father was a native Irishman, and a convert from Romanism; his mother, a Miss Snetthen. In early boyhood he evinced great aptitude and sprightliness of mind; and though his educational advantages were very limited, he industriously improved what opportunities he had, and was regarded as a youth of uncommon promise.

He was converted at a revival on the old Springfield Circuit, during the pastorate of Rev. J. B. Fitzpatrick. He was licensed to exhort under the ministry of Rev. J. C. Dice; was licensed to preach under the Presiding Eldership of Rev. David Thomas, and admitted on trial March, 1874. In 1874-'5, he was appointed junior preacher on Monterey Circuit; Rev. T. Hildebrand being preacher in charge. In 1876, he was with Rev. B. F. Ball on Augusta Circuit, and the following year was appointed with Rev. H. A. Gaver to Montgomery Circuit, but subsequently transferred to Emory. At the Conference of 1878, he was ordained Elder, and assigned to the charge of Taylor's Circuit, within the bounds of which he closed his earthly life. Shortly previous to his last appointment, he was united in marriage to Miss Laurie Gibbs, who survives him in the sorrow of an early widowhood.

As already intimated, Brother Scanlan was a young man of more than ordinary talent. His mind was of an original, independent and incisive order, and strongly disposed to metaphysical speculation. His early efforts in the pulpit were largely affected by this prevailing mental tendency; but his later ministry was characterized by greater spirituality and earnestness, and fruitful in good results.

His last illness was brief and violent. Ten or twelve days before his death he was seized with a malignant form of typhoid fever, that resisted all remedial agencies. He was delirious during nearly the entire period of his sickness; but though thus disabled from giving any very decided expression to his christian faith and hope, his previous piety and devotion to his work gave abundant evidence of his readiness "to depart and be with Christ." There was, indeed, one brief, lucid interval, when suddenly awaking to consciousness, he was observed to be fervently praying, then raised his hands, and with a brightened expression exclaimed: "Glory to God! what peace! what peace!" Then again, just as he was about dying, reason seemed to regain its throne.

Though unable to speak, he opened his eyes with a glad, surprised look; lifted his hand towards Heaven, and beckoned eagerly; then passed away to his final rest.

He was greatly beloved by the people of Taylor's Circuit. His frank, generous and sympathetic disposition; his cordial manners, as well as his active and impartial pastorate, warmly attached to him all classes of the community. When he died, all seemed to mourn the loss of a personal friend.

A few weeks before his death—while the symptoms of the fatal malady were already upon him—he attended the funeral of an interesting young lady of his charge, and preached from the text, "Her sun is gone down while it is yet day."—Jer. xv. 9. How significantly appropriate to his own case!"

"His sun went down at noon—went down to us;
But to arise in a far brighter clime,
Resplendent with the glory of his God."

II.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION.

Wesleyan Female Institute, Staunton, Va.

It is our pleasing duty to report this Institution in a very flourishing condition. The School opened its present session when the financial distress of the country in all sections, was still prevailing, yet, the number of boarding pupils now enrolled is one hundred and twelve. These pupils come from about seventeen states. Under the Presidency of Rev. Wm. A. Harris, D. D., the school is conducted by an able and efficient corps of professors and teachers. Its course of study is extensive, its standard of scholarship is high, and in all other respects it affords all the advantages required for the liberal education of our daughters.

The new building, recently built at the small cost of $2,000, meets an indispensable necessity and adds largely to the comfort of the pupils and general facilities of the School. Such a building, necessary as it is, could not now be built for less than $4,000. Owing to the general financial depression, the last Scholastic year was one of the most depressing and discouraging in the history of the School, yet we are pleased to report that the school was not only self-sustaining, but also declared a dividend last June in its favor, of $3,032 82. This amount the Trustees were compelled to apply mainly to meet the claims of the "Preachers' Aid Society" against the old Institute property, and to meet rents and other claims pertaining to the wants of the School. We are gratified, however, to state that every claim against the Institute by the "Preachers Aid Society" has been fully met and finally settled.

The Trustees having been compelled to apply the revenues of the School as above indicated, the general indebtedness of the School was not materially diminished by the income of the last Scholastic year. Such demands cannot again arise to divert the revenues of the School from the direct liquidation of its debts.

In view of the energy and skill required to conduct such an enterprise, amid the general financial stringency of the past years, and while heartily commending the school to the increased patronage of our own people and the country at large, we feel it proper to endorse the resolutions of the Trustees, passed at the annual meeting in June last.

"The Board of Trustees of the Wesleyan Female Institute, at the close of a most harmonious session, hereby express their gratitude to Almighty God for his continued blessing on our Conference Institution. Notwithstanding the embarrassment attending the opening of the session, occasioned by the yellow fever epidemic in our best patronizing section, the School has been full all the year, while the health of the pupils has been unsurpassed. We could safely leave the patronage of the School, the next session, with the pupils of the past.

But we desire to testify that parents, however distant, can leave their daughters at the Wesleyan Female Institute with as much confidence as to their health, studiousness, deportment and comfort, as if they were under their own eyes, at home; therefore, be it,

Resolved, That the continued success of the Wesleyan Female Institute under the management of its able and efficient President Rev. Wm. A. Harris, D. D., aided by his accomplished Board of Teachers, merits our hearty approval, and we not only recognize the superior qualifications of the President as a Christian educator, but hereby express our high appreciation of both his personal and official character."

Randolph Macon College.

Your Committee have heard with pleasure of the continued prosperity of this valuable Institution. While most of the Colleges for the education of young men have fallen behind their last year's numbers, our College has increased in the number of students, showing up to this date, 128 matriculates against 123 for the whole of the last session.

The grade of Scholarship is high in all the classes. The law of the College is, no advance without hard work.

The religious character of the College is most decided. All the instructors are earnest, practical, Christian men, and exert a most salutary personal religious influence on the young men of the classes.

All the Professors are connected with the College School, and work earnestly and successfully in this field of Christian effort. The power of a corps of Christian teachers over young men in that critical period of life when character is formed, cannot be over-estimated. This is the secret of the strong moral power of Randolph Macon College.

We are gratified to learn that the President of the College, Rev. Dr. Bennett, has nearly completed the subscription necessary to pay off the College debt. When this is done, which we trust will be in a few months, the Institution will be able to do the work of Christian education free of the shackles which have embarrassed it for many years.

This is the Semi-Centennial year of Randolph Macon College. On the 30th, of February, 1830, the College was chartered by the Legislature of Virginia. The College was opened for students in 1832 and from that time to the present has done its work under great pressure for want of an adequate endowment.

Just before the late war, by great exertions, an endowment of $100,000 was secured almost wholly in personal bonds, bearing interest until the principal could be paid.

Nearly the whole of this was lost by the results of the war. Only a fragment of $20,000 in Virginia State Bonds was saved. On this sum it is now essential that we should begin to build up a new endowment fund. It is needless to argue the importance, indeed the absolute necessity of this. No College of high grade can do its work without an ample endowment.

There are periods of general financial depression when patronage will fall off; but the corps of instructors must be retained, and the whole equipment of the Institution kept intact until better times come. A College must be able to do its work in adverse as well as in prosperous seasons, and to do so it must be endowed.

Is not the fiftieth year of the College a most suitable one in which to set on foot a new endowment? We think so, and believe that with a constituency of four hundred traveling preachers and 90,000 members in this and the Virginia Conferences, this work ought to be accomplished in a reasonable time.

The necessity for an endowment is found chiefly in the vast amount of free work which the College has done and is doing. During the time the College has been at Ashland, free tuition has been given to nearly three hundred young men. Of this number, about one hundred and fifty have entered the ministerial work in our Church, and there have been thirty in the College this session studying for the ministry.

The free tuition has reached above $20,000, and can be continued only by the help of the educational collections of the patronizing Conferences.

Your Committee feel sure that the College has made ample returns to the Church for all that has been given to aid in meeting the annual deficiency in the current income, caused by remitting so many tuition fees.

Your Committee recommend the following for adoption by the Conference.

Resolved, 1. That it gives us a sincere pleasure to hear of the continued prosperity of Randolph Macon College, and especially that the Institution is now in a fair way to be relieved of the burden of debt, so as to do its appropriate work with a constantly widening influence.

Resolved, 2. That we will cordially commend the College to our people, and urge them to send their sons to be educated in her halls under the influence of the Christians who compose the corps of instructors.

Resolved, 3. That in this the Semi-Centennial year of the College, a general and earnest effort should be made to secure an ample endowment, and we trust that all the preachers and laymen of influence in all our charges will urge our people to make donations, and leave legacies to the College for the purpose of an endowment.

Valley Female College.

This institution located at Winchester, Virginia, is steadily improving under the efficient management of its able President, Rev. B. Arbogast, D. D.

The Committee of Visitation appointed at the last Conference reports very favorably as to the general management of the College, the thoroughness of the course of instruction and the facilities afforded for attaining a high degree of Scholarship and culture.

The long experience of the President as an Educator; the admirable location of the Institution; its commodious buildings, with all its appointments and surroundings; together with the watchful care exercised over the health, comfort and morals of the pupils, unite in commending it to our confidence and encouragement.

We recommend the reappointment of Rev. B. Arbogast to the presidency of this institution.

Lonoak Female College.

It gives the Committee pleasure to testify to the high character and efficiency of this School of learning.

The President, Rev. J. P. Hyde, is an enthusiastic and successful teacher, and has called to his aid a corps of competent instructors.

The past year has been one of the most prosperous in the history of the institution, and the present outlook is full of promise.

The pupils reside in the family of the principal, are under his constant oversight, and enjoy the benefit of homelike associations and attentions.

Those who commit their daughters to Brother Hyde's training, may be assured that they will be tenderly and conscientiously cared for.

We recommend his reappointment to his present position.

Montgomery Female College.

This Institution has special claims upon our consideration and support. Located at Christiansburg, Va., at the extreme southern limit of our Conference territory, it meets an important need in that section of our work. Situated on the summit of the Alleghany Mountains; in a region remarkable for its salubrious atmosphere; on the line of one of the great thoroughfares between the North and South; with large and well arranged buildings, extensive and beautifully adorned grounds—it presents in these respects particular attractions. Its higher claims, however, consists in its perfectly homelike character, its exact system of discipline and instruction, and the moulding influence exerted upon the characters and manners of the pupils by the accomplished principal, Mrs. O. S. Pollock. It is a School of refinement and thoroughness, and in these statements we but repeat the commendations of your visiting Committee.

Johnson Female College.

This Academy is located at Union, Monroe County, West Virginia, and is represented as doing a good work in that particular locality.

Miss Blanche Gilbert, daughter of our lamented Brother, Rev. J. L. Gilbert, is the principal, and is winning the favor of the patrons of the institution by her evident qualifications for the position.

We commend the School to the patronage of our people in that particular locality.

We furthermore recommend the appointment of Visiting Committees to these several institutions.

ISAAC W. CANTER, Chairman

J. J. HOBBS, Secretary.

III.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS.

WHEREAS, There has been submitted to us, as a Special Committee, certain resolutions from the Rockingham and Lewisburg Districts, asking for a division of the Educational collections between Randolph Macon College and the Wesleyan Female Institute, in our bounds; therefore,

Resolved, That we do not concur in said requests.

J. LANDSTREET, Chairman.

J. W. DUFFEY, Secretary.

IV.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

Your Committee, after consideration of the condition and needs of our Sunday-School work, respectfully submit the following recommendations for adoption:

1. That as the salvation of souls is the prime object of church work in all departments, especial attention be given to the spiritual needs of the children, and prayer and experience meetings be held in the Sunday-schools as often as practicable.

2. That our laymen be urged to organize Sunday-schools in destitute places, and that our pastors be requested to visit, whenever practicable, all schools once a quarter.

3. That believing our Sunday-school periodicals to be the best, and that they fully meet the wants of our schools, our people be urged to use our own publications.

Your Committee would call especial attention to the Catechism on Church Government, by Bishop McTyeire. Its introduction and use in our schools would be of great service to the cause of Methodism.

4. That the review of each Sunday's lesson be held by the Superintendent, and a quarterly review by the Pastor. Moreover, that the Superintendents be requested to see that the verses of the lessons printed in large type, and also the supplemental or catechetical exercise connected with each lesson, be committed to memory by the children.

5. That the Sunday-school Missionary Societies be formed in every school.

6. That our Annual Sunday-school Convention be commended to the attention and support of our people, as doing an excellent work for the Sunday-school cause within the bounds of our Conference.

7. That our congregations generally be brought as far as possible into the study of the Bible lesson with the Sunday-schools.

8. That the presiding Bishop be respectfully requested to appoint one of our Pastors as Sunday-school Secretary.

9. That the Sunday-school Committee, to meet in Nashville in the month of May, be requested to consider the propriety of accrediting Prof. W. M. Smith, of Randolph Macon College, and Brother Richard M. Smith as the representatives of the Sunday-school interests of our church, to the "Centenary of the Establishment of Sunday-schools by Robert Raikes," to be held in London, June 28th, 1880.

T. J. MAGRUDER, Chairman.

V.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PUBLISHING INTERESTS.

Your Committee beg leave to submit the following report:

WHEREAS, we have heard with great pleasure of the success of the Agent of the Publishing House in securing the entire subscriptions to the four per cent. bonds; and whereas, we have heard of the probable success that will attend the collection of the same; and whereas, the Publishing House, one of the most important auxiliaries of the Church, has about tided over its financial embarrassments,

Resolved, That we render sincere thanks to our Father in Heaven for his blessings upon the effort of the Agents.

Resolved, That we will increase our efforts to enlarge the business of the House.

Resolved, That it affords us pleasure to recommend the Quarterly Review to the patronage of our people.

Resolved, That we more than ever approve our general organ, The Nashville Christian Advocate, and commend it to our people; and that the intrinsic merit of the paper entitles it to a very extended circulation.

Resolved, That our Sunday School publications, under the management of Dr. Cunyningham, do richly merit continued and increasing favor and patronage throughout our Church; and that we urge upon our people and Sunday Schools the importance of supplying themselves with our own literature: and that we also call special attention to the books published at our House—so worthy to be in the possession of every Methodist family.

Theological and Homiletic Monthly.

We are glad to hear from the editor, Rev. R. M. Sledd, D. D., of the continued prosperity of this excellent monthly; and we cheerfully commend it to the patronage of our preachers and people.

Baltimore Episcopal Methodist.

WHEREAS, the Baltimore Episcopal Methodist has been established, and is continued with especial regard to the needs of our Conference and people, and

WHEREAS, in the estimation of your Committee, the Baltimore Episcopal Methodist, in its editorial and business management, commends itself to the friendly interest and support of our Conference and people; therefore,

Resolved, That we cheerfully and earnestly recommend it to the confidence and patronage of our preachers and people

Your Committee beg leave to report further, that the memorial from the Roanoke District Conference, was most respectfully laid on the table.

JOHN LANDSTREET, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

The Committee on Temperance beg leave to submit the following report:

Intemperance is a deadly foe; and the formidable aspect it has assumed should cause every Christian and patriot to feel the most profound solicitude.

Daily observation corroborates the Bible declaration, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

Believing this to be true, it is our decided conviction that a more earnest effort should be made to counteract this alarming and growing evil; that the church should rise en masse, and present a solid front to this enemy of the human race; therefore,

Resolved, 1st. That we will remind our people of that clause in the General Rules of our Church, forbidding the use of spirituous liquors, except in cases of necessity.

2d. That the preachers be requested to preach on the subject of temperance whenever practicable.

Respectfully submitted,

L. R. JONES, Chairman.

J. W. SHOAF, Secretary.

VII.

REPORT ON BIBLE CAUSE.

Your Committee are profoundly impressed with the importance of earnest and united efforts, upon the part of the ministry and laity, in assisting in the universal dissemination of the Word of God.

There is no object to which the money of the church can be so profitably applied, as in sustaining the American and State Bible Societies in their noble efforts to place the Word of God in easy reach of all.

We also believe the diligent and prayerful study of the Scriptures on the part of Christians not only is of inestimable service in strengthening their faith; helping to intelligent perceptions of duty and proper appreciation of privileges, but likewise makes them more intelligent and appreciative hearers, and more earnest workers in the vineyard of the Master.

The highest encomium pronounced upon any body of Christians is that uttered by Paul concerning the Berean Church: "These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the Word with all readiness of mind, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so."

Resolved, That we will take up collections in all our charges, early in the year, in behalf of this cause, and we will cheerfully and heartily co-operate with the agents of the American and State Bible Societies when they come among us.

Respectfully submitted,

M. G. BALTHIS,
L. G. MARTIN,
J. L. SHIPLEY,
C. L. DAMARON.
